CONNECTICUT BLUE-LAWS.

Early Regulations of New Haven Colony Were Very Strict.

In New Haven the "blue laws" were famous for their severity, says the New York Tribune. No man could vote in the town elections unless he were a member of some church. No Quaker or dissenter was even allowed to step within the borders of the town.
To pick an ear of corn growing in another's garden was deemed theft, as well as any vegetable or fruit belonging to another, penalty for which was fine and corporal punishment. A young man could not "court a maid in person or by letter without first obtaining the consent of her parents." For the first offense under this law the penalty was £5, £10 for the second offense, and for further repetitions imprisonment at the pleasure of the court. This was an old Massachusetts law, but the New Haven code was much more specific than that of Boston. Trifling with a young woman's affections was strictly forbidden, "whether by speech, writing, message, gifts or in any other way."

There were a large number of cases brought to the courts under this law, which was one of the reasons for its later removal. No one was permitted in New Haven in 1650 to cross a river except by the aid of an authorized ferryman. If a young swell of the town wished to row his women friends across the river he was not allowed to do so by the law. A debtor in prison, if he swore that he had no estate, was sold to pay the debt. Whoever brought "cards and dice into the dominion" had to pay a fine of £5 (English money). Whoever wore clothes trimmed with silver, gold or bone lace at above two shillings' cost the yard was "presented to the grand jurors and fined." A sweeping regulation was to the effect that no one should keep Christmas or saints' days, dance or play cards. Married people had to live together or be imprisoned, divorces being allowed only in remarkable cases. In 1812 the card-playing regulation was still in force, as in that year seven young men in New Haven were arrested for the crime, punished and made to pay fines and costs amounting to nearly $5 apiece. The ministers of the church could not perform marriage ceremonies, that office going to the legal fraternity.
If a man struck his wife he was fined, but if a woman struck her husband she might be whipped by town court order. Every man in the colony had to have his hair cut round like a poll by a pumpkin set on his head or a bowl.

Nervine Cured Me.

A shattered nervous system, nearly always leads to some affection of the heart, especially where the patient's heart is weak from hereditary or other causes. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is not only a great heart regulator, but it is a blood tonic which speedsily corrects and regulates the heart's action, enriches the blood and improves the circulation. It will build you up just as it did Mr. Crawford, whose letter follows, and greatly improve your general health:

"I have been so greatly benefited by Dr.
Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure that I freely recommend them as the best remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure.
When I began taking these medicines I weighed scarcely 140 pounds, my nerves were badly shattered and my heart troubled me a great deal. I had pain in my left arm and shoulder, had difficulty in sleeping on my left side, had frequent smothering spells and my heart would flutter and palpitate.
I could eat scarcely any kind of food without suffering great distress, and was so restless and nervous that I slept little night or day.
Now I am never bothered with my heart, my nerves are steady as a die, I sleep well, eat well and weigh 163 pounds. I am happy now and am trying to make back the money I spent for doctors who did me no good while I was ill."—T. R. CRAWFORD, Center,

TO SUPPLY THE WORLD

Kentucky Coal Fields Will Be Turned To In Future.

A STRIKING EXHIBIT TO BE MADE

Mineral Committee of Kentucky Exhibit Association Allotted Excellent Space at Exposition in Which to Show the State's Wonderful Resources of This Character—The Display On a Broad Scope.

The space allotted the Kentucky Exhibit Association for the several displays to be made of the State's products and resources in the different exhibit palaces of the St. Louis Exposition is quite as prominently located in the mammoth structures as is the Kentucky Building on the grounds. Starting with the reservation made for the mineral resources in the Mines and Metallurgy Building it is no effort to show how well the State that gave to the world the president of the Exhibition, Hon.
David R. Francis, born in Madison county, has been taken care of.

At the west corner of the Mines Building, where crowds coming from the walks around the Grand Basin and from the Restaurant Pavilions will pour in, rests the space in which will be shown the wonderful mineral resources of Kentucky. Here in one spot is three thousand square feet. In addition to this, distributed at intervals through the building, will be duplicate displays of coal, clay, iron, lead and zinc and mineral waters in the various collective exhibits. In the general display, naturally coal is given prominence. A year ago one of the leading operators of the State made the assertion in a paper read before a body of prominent financiers that fifty years from now the coal fields of Great Britain and the coal fields of Pennsylvania would be all but exhausted and that the world must needs then turn to the Kentucky fields for its coal supply. This gentleman was no idle dreamer. He spoke of the rich veins in Eastern Kentucky and the rich veins in Western Kentucky. He talked in figures, not in fancies. It will be one of the purposes of the Exhibit Association to prove in its coal exhibit, by geographical maps and charts, and by constantly increasing productions, that the statement is to be borne out by the future.

It is believed, too, that the clay deposits of Kentucky hold in their grasp the coming years of this great industry. What these deposits will bring forth only time can tell, but that they will not be disappointing has been scientifically demonstrated. The same might be said of the State's lead and zinc ores, her asphalt rocks, her materials for limes and cements, her building stones and her litho-graphic stones. All of these things are to be given due prominence in the Kentucky display.

And petroleum! The Standard Oil company has its fingers on the pulse of this growing infant, and the infant that the Standard Oil company takes time to feel the pulse of is certain to grow rapidly. The Mineral Exhibit Committee of the Association will be able to show oil from the various sands of the state. During the past month there was erected in Lexington by Professor H. Kastle of the State college a refinery especially to get the product from Kentucky's petroleum to show in the state's mineral display.
There will be at least fifteen different samples displayed in extenso, from the crude form even to the paraffine.
One of the unique features of the petroleum display will be a bottle of oil from the first well bored in the United States. This well was situated in Cumberland county, and was struck while boring for salt water. When this well was sunk—in 1829, before oil was heard of in Pennsylvania—the crude oil was put up in bottles by the American Oil company, and sold all over the United States at fifty cents per bottle, eight ounces, as a cure for cuts and bruises and sores of all kinds of man and beast. It was not thought of that time for illuminating purposes.

Another striking mineral exhibit will be massive blocks of onyx, while it is the hope of the committee to be able to get a very fine collection of gems from Elliott county. To all of these things will be added in proportion to their wealth polishing and scouring materials and molding sands, road materials, barite, fluorite, iron, coke, etc., etc. In one corner of the display there will be geographical sections, in another a large geographical map. Much space is also to be devoted to cases with different exhibits. Mineral waters will also be attractively displayed. Eleven of the most noted springs in the state have already agreed to furnish water in bottles with especially designed labels and water to be served on tap, gratis.
The water to be given away will be placed in the Kentucky Building, the different springs to alternate in the time of serving.

Former Mayor Charles P. Weaver of Louisville is the chairman of the Mineral Exhibit Committee of the Association; Professor C. J. Norwood of Lexington is the chief counsellor thereto, and W. U. Grider of Bowling Green is the field representative.

"That which is effected can never be effective."

PROFIT

The matter of feed is of tremendous importance to the farmer. Wrong feeding is loss. Right feeding is profit.

The up-to-date farmer knows what to feed his cows to get the most milk, his pigs to get the most pork, his hens to get the most eggs. Science.

But how about the children?
Are they fed according to science, a bone food if bones are soft and undeveloped, a flesh and muscle food if they are thin and weak and a blood food if there is anemia?

Scott's Emulsion is a mixed food; the Cod Liver Oil in it makes flesh, blood and muscle, the Lime and Soda make bone and brain. It is the standard scientific food for delicate children.

Send for free sample.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

MOUTHS HAVE MEANINGS.

Different Characters That Are Depicted by the Lips.

Beware of the rosebud mouth!
The mouth that is so tiny. The mouth that finds its way into the passages of novels, that may be found in statuary. All the Venuses have rosebud mouths—for the rosebud mouth is Dame Nature's label, pinned to the face, declaring that its owner is vain, frivolous and untruthful.

On the other hand, says the Philadelphia Telegraph, the larger mouth, with full, well-proportioned lips, which, when closed, form almost a horizontal line with the corners of the mouth, neither elevated nor depressed, is the indication for truthfulness, loyalty, firmness, justice. A large mouth does not look pretty, possibly, but it reflects handsome and womanly qualities which should always be in demand.

One often hears the statement:
"O, what a short upper lip!" and the statement made in all sincerity. A short upper lip is said to be a sign of beauty. Upon the point of beauty we have nothing to say, but we do know the girl who has a short upper lip is generally a very conceited creature, and the only way to gain her heart is to flatter her. That is a point worth knowing and recollecting.

Observe the wide mouth with downward curves at the corners.
Notice particularly the points—mouth wide, corners depressed.
Women who have a mouth like this would deprive their stomachs of the best turkey dinner ever cooked for the sake of gossiping.
A woman of this kind will neglect every duty in life for gossip. And she is not over kind-hearted or sympathetic, either. It does not require any very great brain to move this wide, low cornered mouth.

Bettie Kingston, a young woman, shot and killed Nat Phillips at her home near Mayfield. She was cooking breakfast when Phillips struck her with a stick of stovewood.

WORTH A THOUGHT

This Statement Will Interest
Scores of Mt. Sterling
Readers

The facts given below are worth a perusal by all who are anxious about their physical condition or are similarly situated to this resident of Frankfort. It is a local occurrence and can be thoroughly investigated.

W. T. Reading, dry goods dealer of 315 Broadway, and residing at 225 Elk Place, says: "I have the greatest faith in Doan's Kidney Pills for my experience taught me that they are true to their representations. For months I was plagued with backache, not sleeping, but a dull aching all the time. I first noticed it over my hips then by degrees it worked across the small of my back, the pain being so constant that I became so lame and sore that if I stooped or sat for awhile I could hardly straighten. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and especially recommended for my trouble I got a box. After using them a few days I noticed a marked improvement in my condition and in a short time I was cured. I will corroborate this statement at any time in a personal interview or in reply to any communication mailed to me."

Plenty more proof like this from Mt. Sterling people. Call at the drug store of F. C. Duerson and ask what his customers report.

Turkish Proverbs.

To the well man every day is a feast day.
Today's egg is better than tomorrow's hen.
The master of the house is the guest's servant.
Two watermelons cannot be held

He who has not rest at home is

The mouth is not sweetened by saying honey, honey.
If you have to gather thorns do

Louisville Republicans Split.

The Roosevelt faction of the Republicans of Louisville have agreed to make former Gov. W. O. Bradley the next Republican National Committeeman from this State in place of John W. Yerkes. There is an intense feeling, bordering upon bitterness, between the Hanna and Roosevelt supporters, and it looks as if a hot scrap will be made for control of the party machinery.
